

Barn Conversions

We have made something of a speciality of barn conversion work, in many cases tackling tumbledown ruins that looked as if they were beyond salvation. However, our team of experienced craftsmen are up to any challenge, and we are very proud of the fact that we have created several beautiful homes from redundant agricultural buildings.

We are aware of the importance of conservation and work closely with planning officers to ensure that each conversion complies fully with building regulations and harmonises sympathetically with its surroundings.
